In a fragmented world, where global issues meet with local problems, human existence is faced with a new vision. The circumstances in which we have to live are drawing a very different picture of the world from the one in which we were socialized. In such a situation the artist has to play a different role from the one played in the past, depicting this kaleidoscope of our world at many levels.

Zsolt Tibor is essentially a drawer, photographer and installation artist and uses the materials and the wall as the basis of his artistic expression to collect real and abstract motifs on a surface where the borders of his works never stop at the edges of the art piece. In his mind, art and reality have the same root which has to be explored. Our understanding can be compared to seeing: we notice elements of the globalised world and we put them together at the level of our intelligence. In Zsolt Tibor's art as well we try to describe the elements of his pieces and their position on the exhibition surface, and from this experience understand his universe which reflects in its details the fragmentation and complexity of our existence.

Neben den vor allem auf Papier entstandenen Zeichnungen und Bildern, an denen ich fortdauernd arbeite, suche ich nach der Möglichkeit, größere (intermediale) komplexe Objekte zu kreieren. Anhand dieser studiere ich verschiedene Phänomene wie visuelle und mentale Gewohnheiten, Schichten oder zum Beispiel den Mechanismus der Aneignung. Durch die Aufeinanderwirkung der Elemente und durch dieses „In-Szene-Setzen“, forsche ich nach deren möglicher Analyse. Bei der Arbeit verwende ich Photos, herkömmliche Techniken, aber auch Projektionen und verschiedene Mittel wie Linsen, Kondensoren, Klebeschleifen. Zwar sind die Installationen voneinander unabhängig, doch beinhalten sie mehrere Aspekte, die aufeinander aufbauen. Ich versuche mich damit jeden Tag zu beschäftigen wie auch mit den ihnen zugeordneten, manchmal nur als Ausgangspunkt dienenden Photos, die ich parallel dazu mache. Zsolt Tibor, Künstler

I seek a chance to create larger sized, (intermedial) groups of objects in a given space in addition to the mainly paperbased drawings/paintings I am continuously making. In these, I examine several phenomena (visual and mental habits, layers, or for example the mechanism of “acquisition”) through the interaction and getting into situations of the elements. Moreover I look for the potential analysis of these phenomena. To create or build the works I use photographs and traditional techniques, as well as projections and various tools (e.g. convex lens, condensers, adhesive tapes). The installations are independent of each other, but they have several aspects that are based on each other, recalling certain elements. I make an effort to work on this day by day as well as to prepare the photos and drawings, which go with them, though in some case they serve simply as a starting point. Zsolt Tibor, artist

I have already designed several mural drawings combined with projections for specific sites and occasions. My starting point is a large scale pencil drawing made directly onto the wall. Afterwards, I designate the drawing projecting pure light on it with a projector. Usually the light projected covers the dimensions, the frame of the drawing. However, beyond the two dimensional surface used, the light extends the dimensions of the work into the space, thus establishing a new relation with the dark space of the gallery. The light indicates the visual boundaries of the work, and may evoke new thoughts apart from the original ones already evoked by the drawings. By the first glance of a beholder it may create the illusion of a projected work. The reasons of this illusion might be originated in those visual patterns and mental schemes the reception suggests. In the projection usually slides are used as well, which become part of the work. With the slide being in a subordinated, super-ordinated or a co-ordinated relation to the drawing, the different media interrelate in the installation creating new meanings. Zsolt Tibor, Künstler
